Using The Variations

WRITE YOUR WAY OUT

Long – This secondary logo is clean and sleek. With no icon and your catchphrase attached, this is meant for more professional settings. Some great situations for this would be at the bottom of blog posts or email signatures, in all of your colors and has a thick outline so it is sure to stand out against almost all backgrounds. Because this will be your main variation, it will come in solid black and white as well for a less bold look.

Main Multicolor – This is your GO-TO! It brings

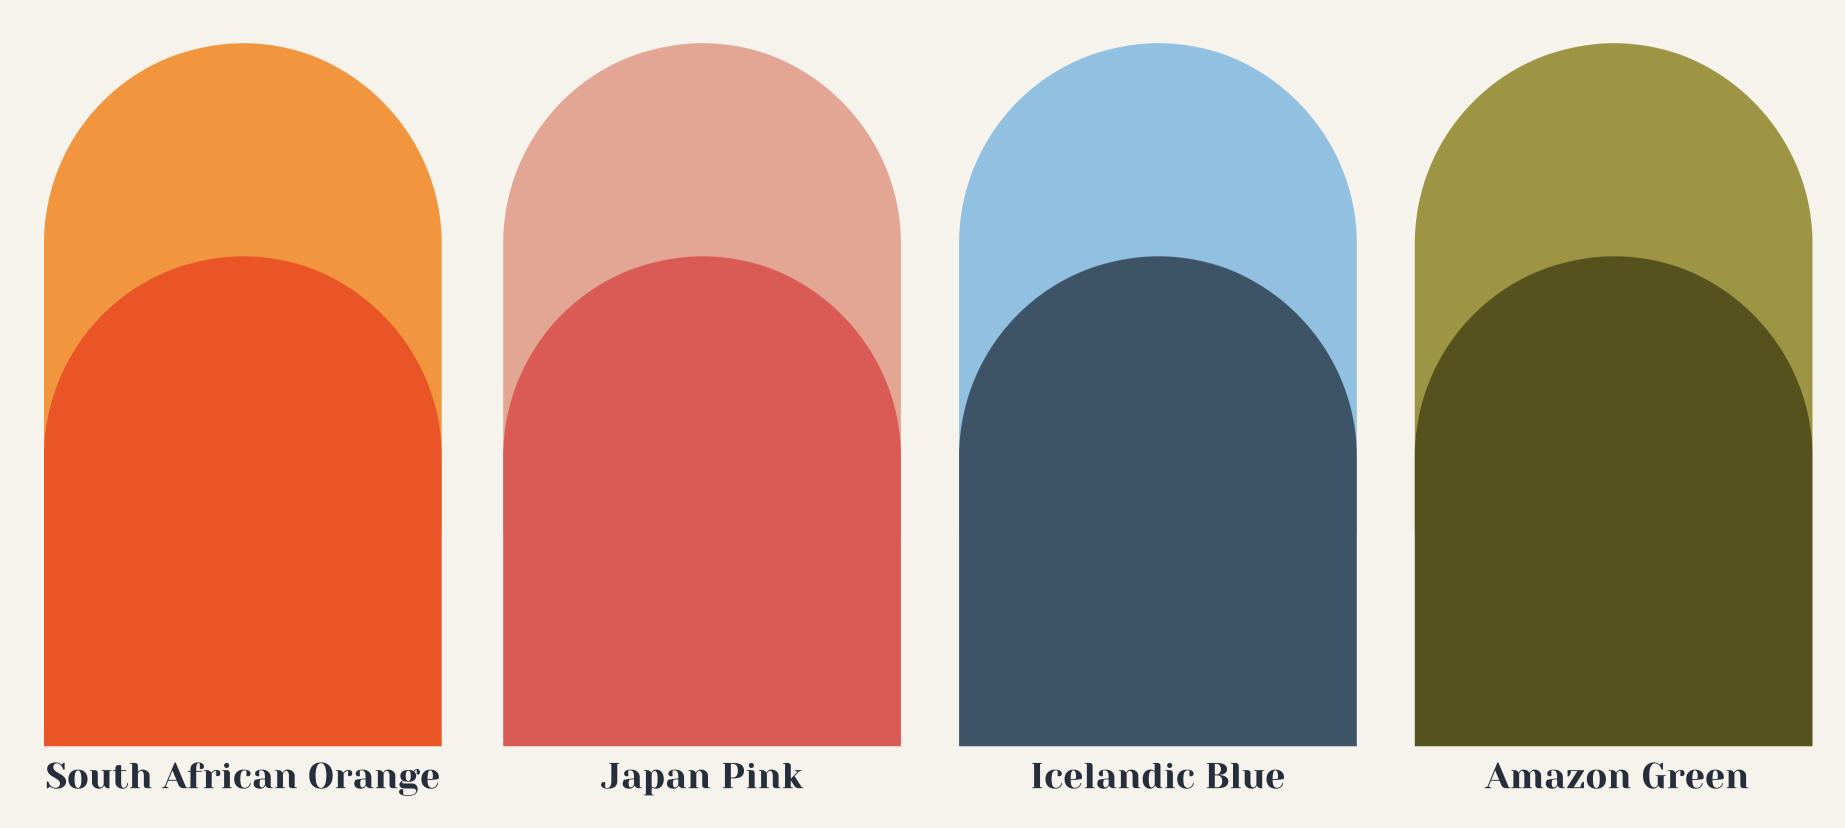

Solo Icon – This colorful airplane comes in a circle shape and is great for social media profile pictures and any small icons where text would be hard to read. This version does come in one with text attached to it as well just in case!

Color Family

This is your Color Family – South African Orange, Japan Pink, Icelandic Blue, and Amazon Green. Each color comes with a corresponding lighter version to use when the situation is needed and to add dimension. When using the colors, try to make sure there is enough contrast to help with visibility. The best way to make sure your colors pop is to use opposite tones together! For example, use the cool tone of Light Icelandic Blue, and place the warm African Orange on top.

Typography

Yeseva One – Your main header font! This is what makes up your logo. This playful font has the traditional aspects of a serif font, but also the fun and playful aspects with the nontraditional curvatures in the letters. This font really speaks to both the playful and professional parts of your brand. This will be your Headliner font.

Yeseva One

The Lift effect on Canva is a great way to add some dimension to your posts. I like to set it at around 30% but use your discretion as it depends on the project!

Something Fun

The Girl Next Door – As requested, we wanted to add in a playful handwritten font that was easy to read but gave that look of reading a handwritten letter. This font is perfect for giving that personal touch to any sentence. This will be your Sub Header font.

The Girl Next Door

Poppins Regular – This front is a lovely modern Sans Serif font that is easy to read and go's so well with other fonts. Poppins comes in many variations so it will fit in almost every situation you come across. This will be your Body Text font.

The Girl Next Door - Sub Header sentences. No more than one to two sentences. FUN TIP! We love to see a dashed line to separate text. Plays off of the Paper airplane logo

This type example is set to be double spaced) ipsum dolor sit amet, consectetur adipiscing elit, sed do eiusmod tempor incididunt ut labore et dolore magna aliqua. Photography & Patterns

Photography Style

Just like your brand, photography should be fun and colorful! Branding photography should represent you and what you do. Backdrop settings like office spaces, coffee shops, bookstores, and even outdoor settings are great locations that remind your clients that freelancing writing gives your the freedom to work wherever! Try to wear colors in your brand's color family, or neutrals with the backdrop being in your colors. Flat lays are also a great way to show different details and they also make great backgrounds for social and website pages.
